

RELATIONSHIPS AND IDENTITIES

PSHE Year 6 Summer 1

KNOWLEDGE ORGANISER

How are people different?

Overview:

- Exploring British values
- Diversity and make up of different family units
- Loving relationships

Britain is a diverse society

This means that there are many differences between the people living in our country. There are people of different cultures, traditions, beliefs, religions and ethnicities. This is something which makes Britain an exciting place to live

Britain is a democracy

This means there is a belief in freedom and equality between all people and that the British government is based on this belief. British people have the right to live in the way they choose. This is something to be celebrated.

Respect

- It is important to show respect to those with a different faith or ethnicity to our own.
- We can show respect to others by accepting who they are, where they come from and what they believe.
- We can take time to find out about people, asking them questions about their chosen way of life.
- We can also learn a lot from our differences, too. We are very fortunate to live in such a diverse country.

Relationship

A loving relationship between two people is mutual and consensual. This means that both people in the relationship want to be in the relationship.

A loving relationship can be between friends, members of a family or couples.

There are many types of loving relationships. We have different sorts of relationships with different people in our lives, at different times.

Whilst loving relationships may involve different combinations of people, they will all have some things in common.
